

ID	RBS	Title	Owner	Current	Residual	Notes
010 [01]	M1	Articulating the PHC Value Proposition to Project Owners. [Ref-C00008]	Winter, David	16	8	Explaining the value proposition is priority to enable future video conferences and in person approaches.
027 [08]	M2	Choice of Computer Operating System for PHCC	Winter, David	16	8	The current debate within the team echoes differing views on OS security, corporate ethics, and user freedom. Windows and Apple offer user-friendly ecosystems but have commercial practices that raise ethical concerns. Linux, while technically superior in security and flexibility, often faces criticism for its passionate and sometimes divisive community discourse.
009 [02]	M1	Relating PHC History of Deployment [Ref-C00008]	Winter, David	16	12	Over the past 2 years on two projects with Worley, an EPC contractor, it was done openly and worked very well, but demonstrated clearly that PHC Service must be at project owner/sponsor level. Currently marketing in the right place with Nigeria as focus, with CENL as Local Rep.
017 [04]	M1	PHC Role in Regeneration of Local Communities [Ref-C00008]	Winter, David	16	8	An important component of the PHC methodology is the channeling of profit into community development, achieved as a function of the PHC Shareout process. The mechanism acts as an example that the Project owner and other companies may follow as part of their contractual commitment to Local Content and Community development.
014 [05]	M1	Strategy for Delivering Proposals to Project Owners [Ref-C00008]	Winter, David	16	12	Recent Agency agreement with CENL enables access to Nigerian projects and contact with owners. We achieved interest from Prof PLO Lumumba (our Ambassador) for pan-African support, a significant platform for sustainable marketing.
013 [06]	M1	PHC as a Motivation Strategy for the Project Workforce. [Ref-C00008]	Winter, David	16	12	Assuming the Project Owner agrees (in principle) to their contributing to the share out, we can go all out to get the project staff to join in with time chunks. Otherwise the PHC Service is NOT going to be a motivation to the staff, just 'no escape' from accountability. The 'stick only'- not any 'carrot'.